

The Department of Archive Studies and Museology

invites students and teachers to a guest lecture by

Glenn Perkins

Curator of Community History at the Greensboro History Museum (USA) and current Fulbright Scholar at the Bratislava City Museum.

City Museums, Civic Spaces – Opportunities and Challenges for Engaging Local Communities

Thursday 26.3.2026

11,30 - 13,00

Classroom S 427

In his presentation, Mr Perkins will explore the unique relationship between city museums and the communities they serve. Drawing on examples from museums in North America, Europe, and East Asia, he will discuss how museums involve local communities in research and documentation, program development and exhibition creation.

The lecture will also address different forms of participation and co-creation and examine how community engagement can shape museum practice, institutional approaches, and the broader role of museums in civic life.